SEA RAGES IN HURRICANE FORCE WINDS

The predicted snowstorm of last Thursday turned into a howling gale - fortunately with rain instead of the expected snow. The snow, which fell in the early morning hours, was quickly turned into fast melting slush by day-break. Winds of hurricane velocity turned the coast into a foaming surf lashed flood. High tide was forced higher by the gale and flooded low lands.

Union Wharf in Fairhaven was flooded at high water. These photos taken from MacLeans on Union Wharf show height of water to be about 6" from wharf surface. Photos were taken at about 11 A.M. shortly after the dike gates were closed trapping the flood water. Because of flooding in Fairhaven, a new formula for

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

A program from the Department of Public Health will be featured at the meeting of the Rochester Woman's Club to be held Wednesday, January 11th, at 8:00 P.M. in the clubhouse. Mrs. George E. Church is in charge of the program.

Mrs. Ainsley White, chairman of the social hour, will be assisted by Mrs. Robley Buckman, Mrs. Kenneth Winslow and Mrs. C. Rodman Doane.

This photo of the Mattapoisett Bathing Beach was taken at 10 A.M. and you can see combers striking high on the beach with the entire parking lot flooded to the edge of Water Street. Photo is from the Hiller home on North Street looking southeast. The Ned's Point Lighthouse is dimly visible through the pouring rain.

PIANO, ORGAN PUPILS HAVE PARTY

Mrs. Alden S. Kinney, music teacher, was hostess to her pupils at the annual holiday party held at her music studio on North Street, Mattapoisett.

Games were enjoyed and the group was entertained with tricks of magic performed by David Olaussen of Rochester. Highlighting the afternoon was the hearing of the especially prepared musical recordings, taped at music lessons, when each pupil performed a special selection.

Pupils participating were Gail Roberts, Carl Pepin, Karen Buckley, Robert Price, Kathy O'Driscoll, David Olaussen, Jeannette Gregoire, Johnny Wing, Erica Nelson, Christine Bertram, Mark Conboy, Susan Bisailon, Barry White, Diane Lemieux, Kathy Sheets, Mary Ellen Days, Kathy Marchino, Lynn Bucar, Eric Pepin and Paul Conboy.

Two senior music students, Deborah Dexter and Geraldine Gastar, assisted Mrs. Kinney with the serving of refreshments.

A THANK YOU

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all of those friends who have done so much to help and console me during the recent illness and loss of my wife, Mary. More than 20 men gave their blood and I am most grateful for their generous gift. Countless others have extended sympathy, kindness and have visited and sent cards. I would like everyone to know how deeply I appreciate their thoughtfulness.

Thank you,
Raymond Pound.

Available devices such as safety door latches and dual operating brake systems have been standard equipment on Bell vehicles. They have recently been adopted by automobile manufacturers to comply with Federal requirements for vehicles.

Options not available until 1968 such as padded sunvisors and outside rearview mirrors for passenger cars and inside rearview mirrors for trucks will be standard on 1967 New England Telephone vehicles.

mittees of the towns involved will discuss school plans.

Many townspeople have questioned the Selectmen about withdrawing from the Vocational School agreement.

Superintendent of Schools, Joseph C. Kunces, will be notified by the Selectmen of the possibility of withdrawal, and Town Counsel, Attorney Leonard Perry will be asked to rule on the procedures Mattapoisett should take to

SEMINARS FOR OWNERS OF SMALL BUSINESSES

A series of informal seminars for owners and managers of small businesses in the New Bedford area was announced jointly by the ONBOARD Small Business Development Center, South-eastern Massachusetts Technological Institute and the Small Business Administration. There will be six sessions held weekly beginning Tuesday, January 24, from 7 to 9 P.M. at the Dartmouth campus of SMTI. The seminars will be of the lecture-discussion type and will cover areas of small business operation which usually need the greatest attention by owners and managers, yet where often the least outside assistance is available. Record keeping, inventory control and financial statements will be the subjects of the first three meetings, and will be gone into from the practical viewpoint of a small business owner or manager who has not had a background in accounting, but who needs a realistic approach to the understanding and use of these records and controls for analyzing and improving his business. There will be adequate time available to discuss individual problems and to take up case histories which will illustrate typical problems encountered in small businesses.

Special additive in today's Shell Heating Oil helps give more warmth per gallon, top heating performance

There's a new additive in today's Shell Heating Oil. Called FOA-5X, this Shell product works round the clock to protect your fuel system—from storage tank to burner head. FOA-5X helps reduce build up of heat-robbing deposits that can collect in critical areas of your burner. It lets Shell Heating Oil burn in a radiant, even flame. It helps reduce service calls and expense. The result: more warmth per gallon of fuel—top performance at minimum cost. Before you buy your next gallon of heating oil, call us. We will give you complete details about Shell Heating Oil with FOA-5X and about our service.

This seminar, the first of its kind in the New Bedford area, is the result of planning by the Small Business Development Center, the Department of Business Administration of SMTI and the Boston Regional Office of the Small Business Administration, based on experience with training classes sponsored by the Small Business Development Center last year which showed a need for a series which could cover fewer subjects in somewhat greater depth. The Small Business Administration has sponsored similar seminars in cooperation with local educational institutions on Cape Cod and in the Boston area.

Louis J. Robitaille, Director of Special Pro-
